More about Sensory-Friendly Performances

For its sixth year, The Old Globe will offer a sensory-friendly performance of the holiday classic Dr. Seuss's How the Grinch Stole Christmas! on Saturday, December 9, 2017 at 10:30 a.m.

Following in the footsteps of successful sensory-friendly performances of The Grinch and Into the Woods in seasons past, The Grinch will be performed for children and adults on the autism spectrum and their families, as well as other families with special needs that may appreciate the welcoming and supportive environment this performance provides.

What is a Sensory-Friendly Performance?

In order to help make the experience safer and more enjoyable for theatregoers with autism and other sensitivity issues, slight adjustments are made to the production including:

- Fewer loud noises and flashing lights that may be challenging for some audience member
- The lobby of the theatre will serve as a quiet area for children who need to leave their seat during the show.
- On-site volunteer specialists will be on hand to assist families as they arrive at the Old Globe Theatre and throughout the performance

An online social story will be available for parents to view and print at home that outlines in words and pictures the experience that families will have during their trip to see Dr. Seuss' How the Grinch Stole Christmas! Families can make an appointment to "meet their seat" and familiarize themselves with Balboa Park and the Old Globe Theatre.
